Maryville College
Standards and Rules
September, 1937

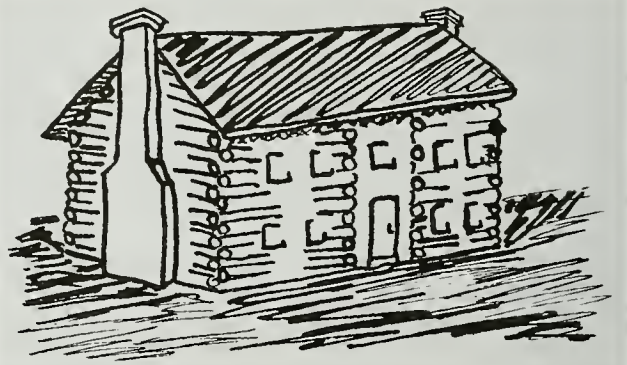

Senior Women May: (1) Be in the company of men in the central area of the open campus on week days any time from breakfast until the close of the usual afternoon social privileges; (2) Receive men in the parlors of their dormitory on week day evenings, as arranged with the Head of the dormitory; (3) Accompany men to the main business section of Maryville one week-day afternoon a week, provided they return by supper time; (4) Act as chaperones in cases approved by the Supervisor of Women's Residence.

By "central area of the open campus" is meant in general that area bounded by the outside limits of the athletic fields, Carnegie Hall, the Chapel, and the Hospital.

Maryville College
Standards and Rules
September, 1937

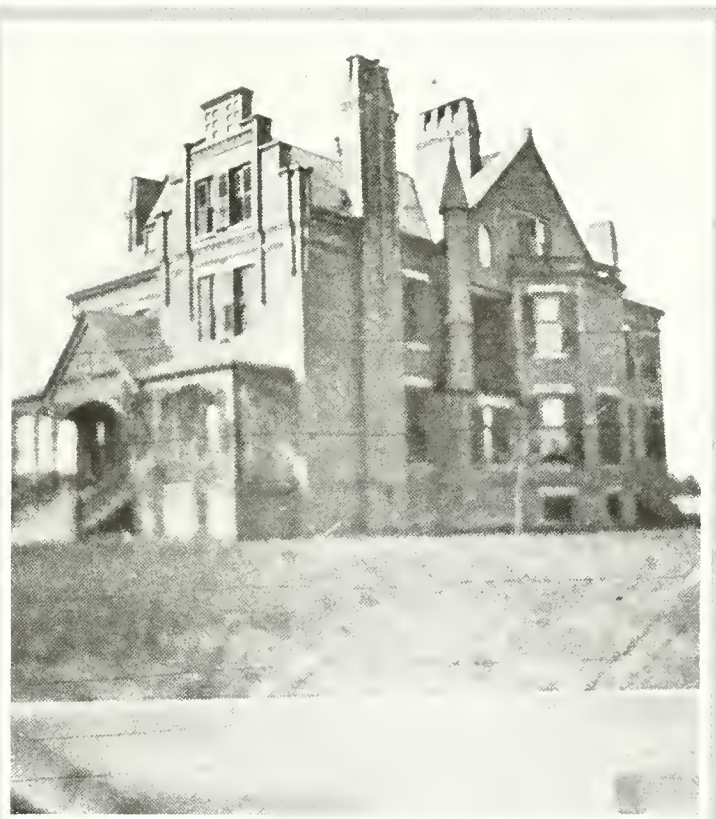

Maryville College began in 1902 in a small log cabin similar to the one depicted here. It was built by our founder, Issac Anderson and was closed in 1812. The Elizabeth Voorhes Memorial Chapel was built on campus in 1906 and was destroyed by fire in 1947. Baldwin Hall was a girls residence and was built in 1871. In 1968 it was removed from campus. The rest of the buildings should look familiar to you: Anderson, Lamar Memorial Library, Ralph Max Lamar Memorial Hospital, Carnegie, Thaw Hall, and at the bottom of this page - Willard.

Maryville College - Its history surrounds us each and every day. These eight buildings, and Willard House on the title page, have been named part of a historic district in Maryville. Andersen is the oldest building on campus and was completed in 1870. Lemar Memorial Library, now the Center for Campus Ministry and formerly the Post Office, was completed in 1888. Willard House, also known as the President's Residence, was completed in 1890. Fayerweather Science Hall was completed in 1901. The Ralph Max Lemar Memorial Hospital and Carnegie Hall were both completed in 1910. Peterson's Hall was also completed in 1910, with the third and fourth stories being added in 1912. The dining hall annex was finished in 1935. Construction on Thew Hall was finished in 1922.

ROYALTY OF 1961

The Royalty of 1961 came from three events very popular at that time: Homecoming, Barnwarming and the May events. On this page are some pictures from the 1961 Homecoming events. In the bottom right-hand corner is Ninajo Tarver, homecoming queen that year. On the opposite page is Sandra Poole and George Poland, the Barnwarming Queen and King and next to that is Peggy Reid, the 1961 May Queen. The candids on that page all come from the May events that year.

The years here have been ones I will never forget. The students (you) make Maryville College ——— Maryville College. Thanks to you I've learned what students can accomplish together, what friendship is really, and what it means to mature. Thanks for making Andrew Baker ——— Andrew Baker.

If I can Keep my head when all about me are losing theirs and blaming it on me.
If I can wait and not be tired by waiting. If I can trust myself when all men doubt me. I shall obtain goal of success. I'm on my way ...

Thanks to the Great, Great class of 1983!

"Given the youth of our team, and the strength of our schedule, our players acquitted themselves well. They never gave up, they never made excuses, they always hustled. I believe our staff did a fine job preparing them for each and developing and executing our game plans. I have never seen enthusiasm and support at Maryville College this strong and I certainly appreciate it."

KEEP

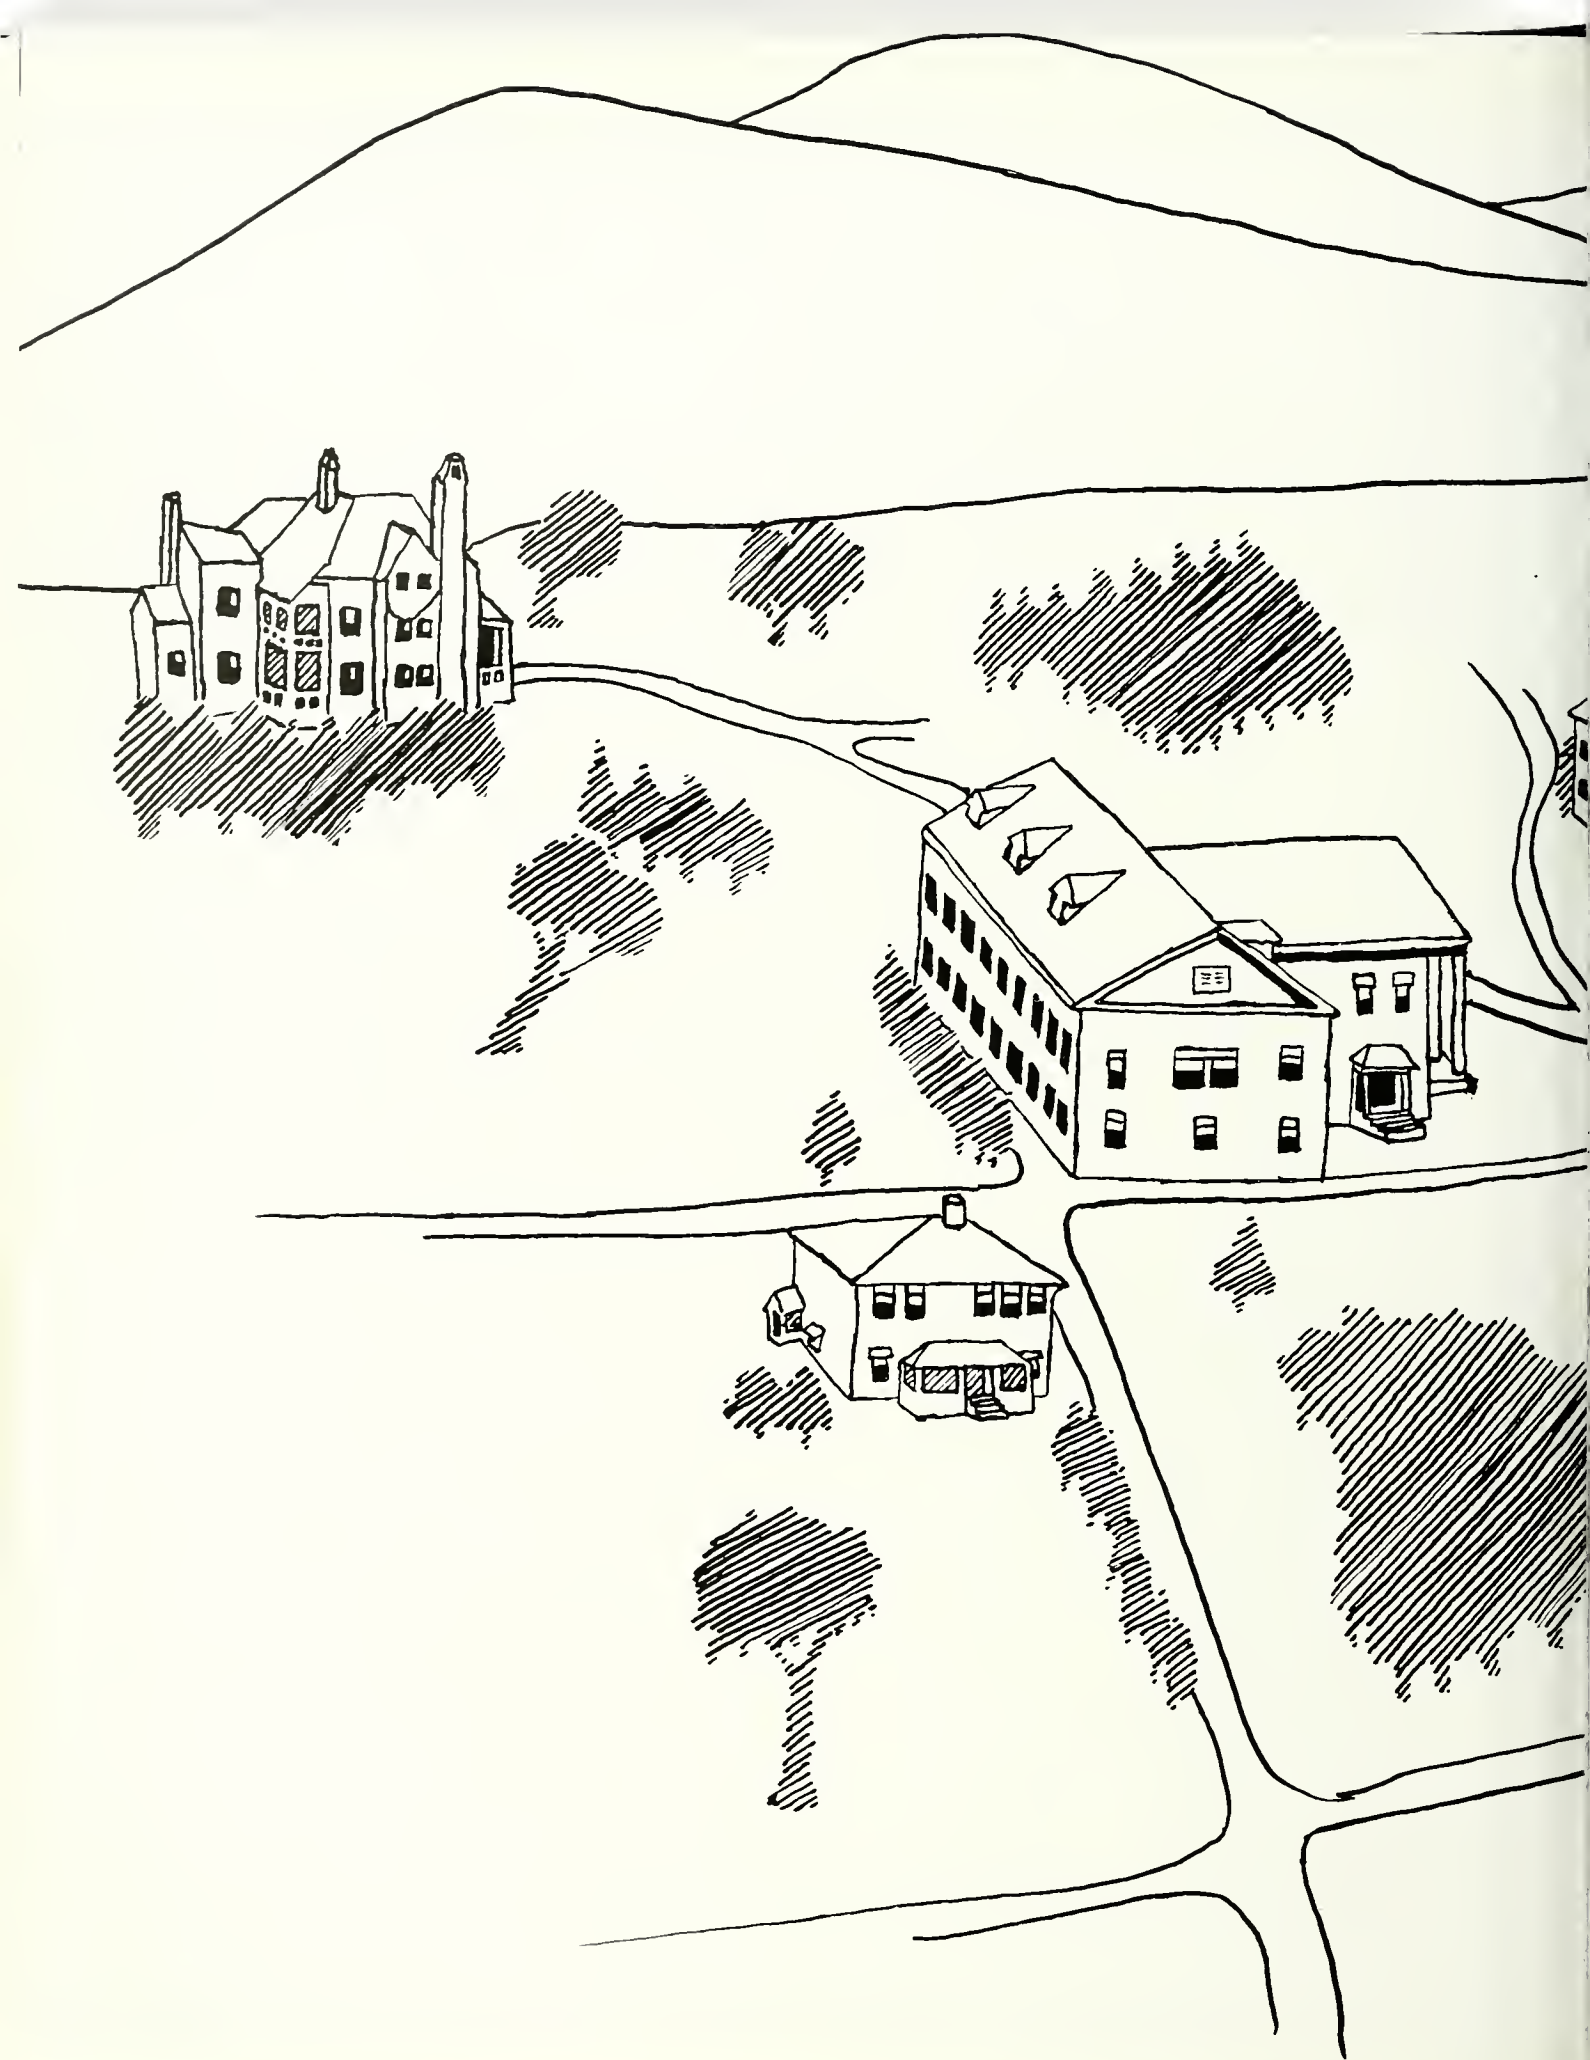

As Editor of the Chilhowean, I would like to thank a lot of people for all their help and support. Of course, as with any publication, the book could not be produced without the help of the entire staff. This year's staff has been very helpful and for this, I would like to thank them. I would also like to thank Toman for all his time and advice. Special thanks to Linda Gillespie, Tim Wey, and Tracey Voss for all their help and advice. It is nice to have friends like you three that I know I can depend upon.

Again thanks to everyone, and a special thanks to the Senior Class of 1983 for all their support. Congratulations Seniors. The Chilhowean wishes you all the luck in this world in your future.

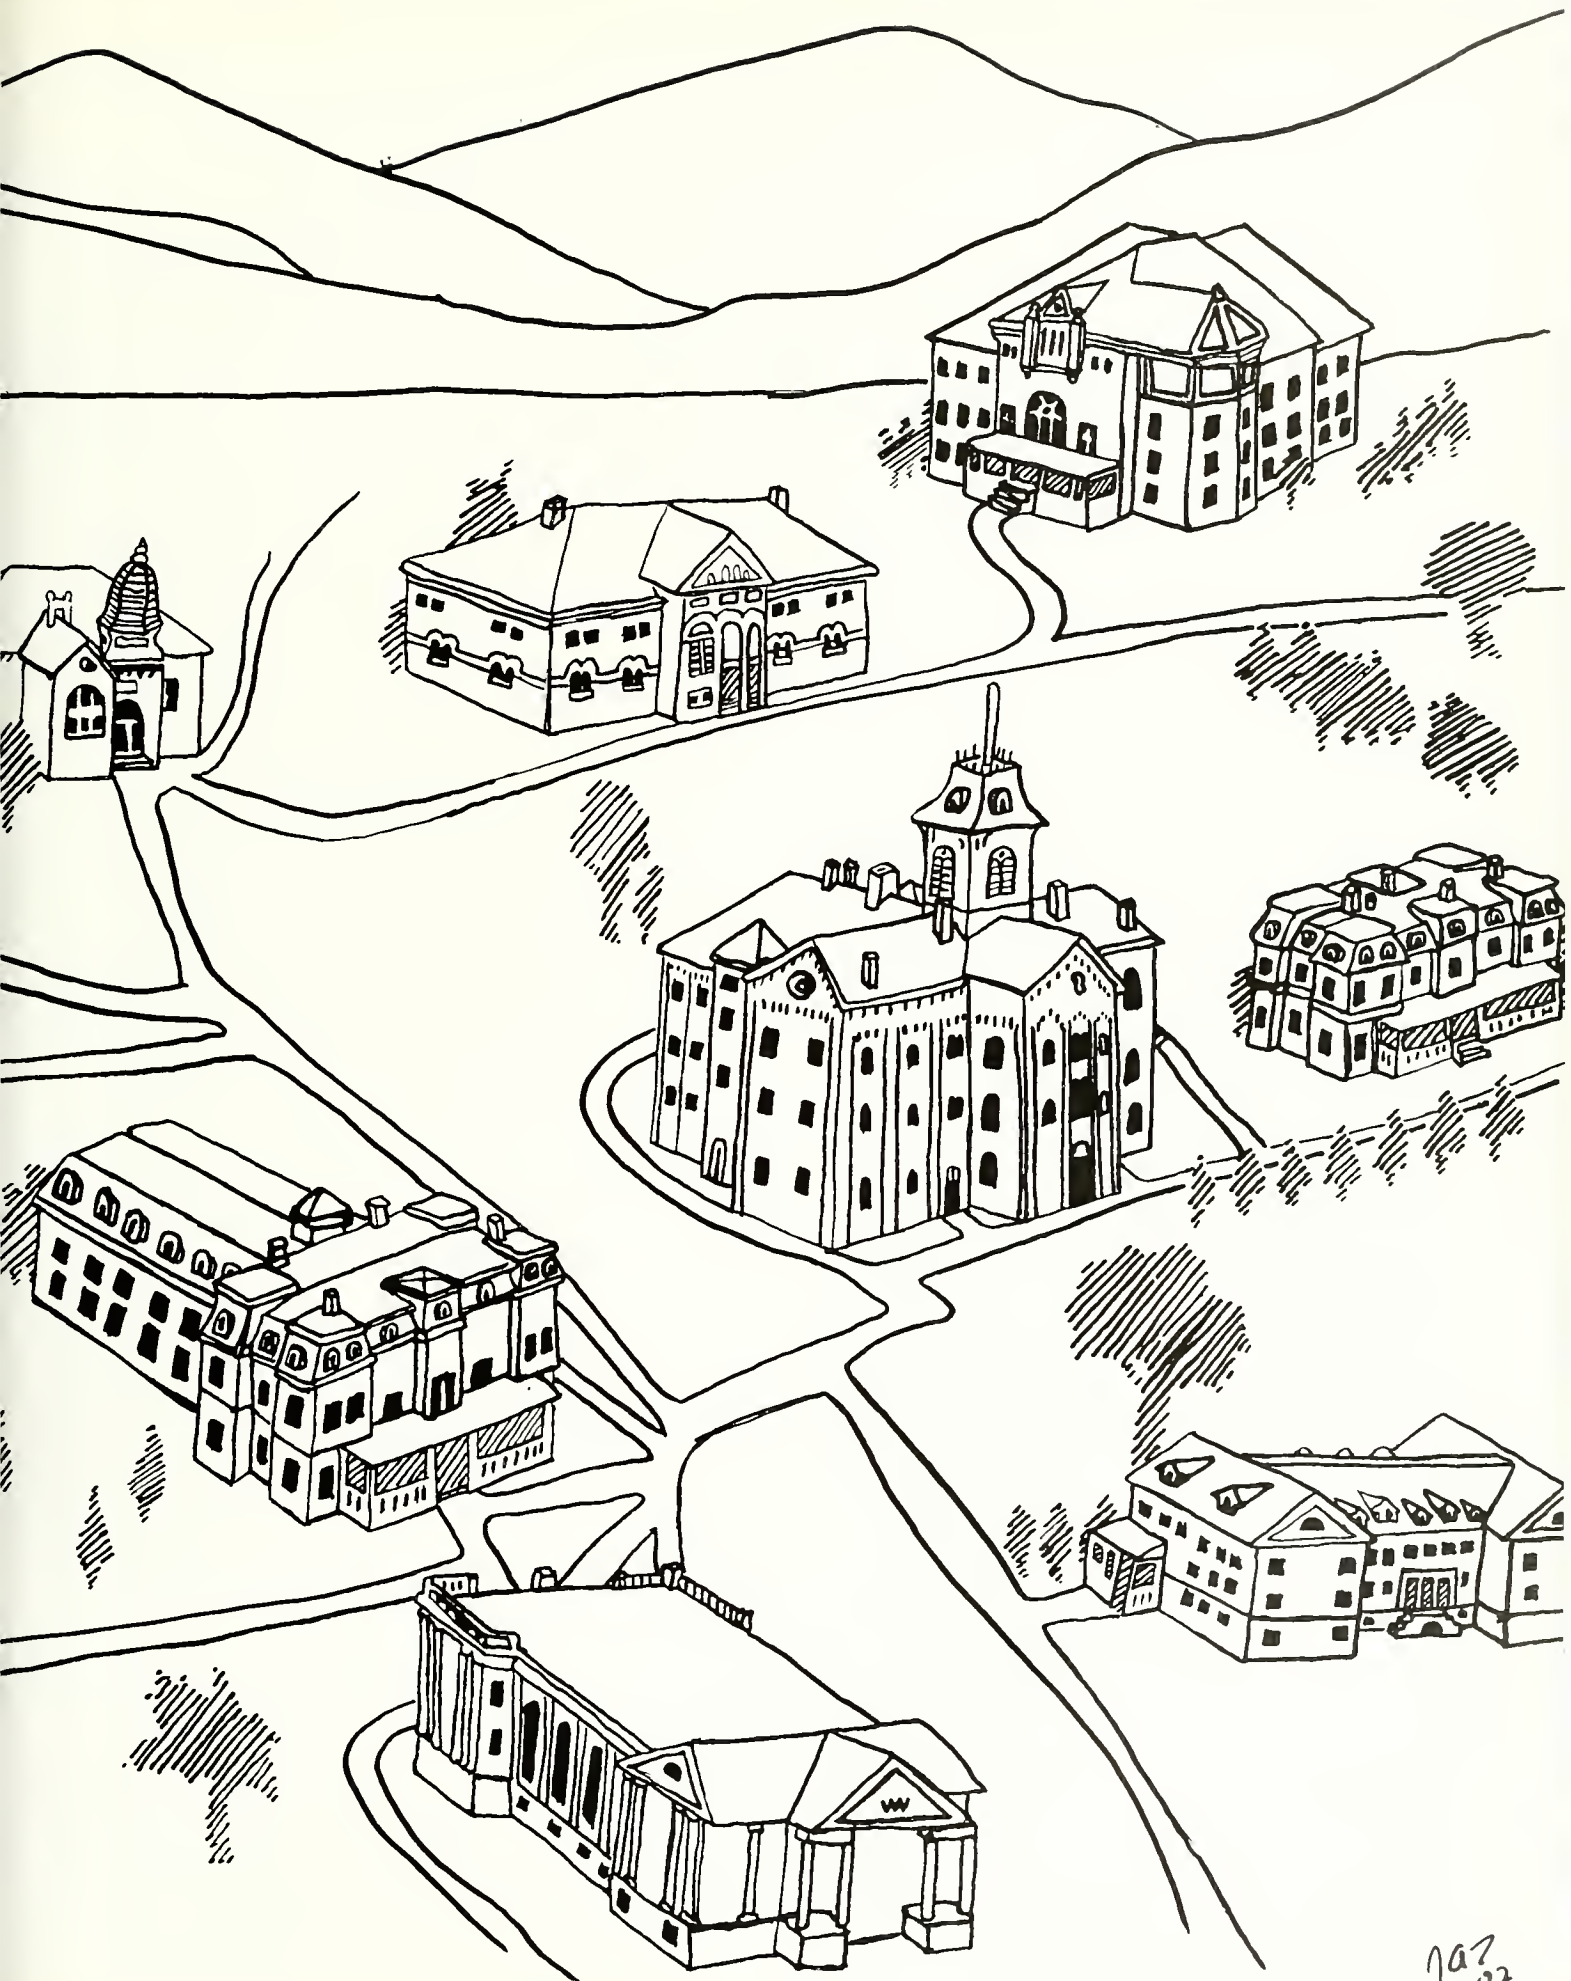

Patricia McCott
Chilhowean Editor

who will you be tomorrow?
nobody that you've been.
changing yourself again, over again.
who are you now, and who are you meant to be?
